L. C. Henrichsen has been handling the immense demand made upon his splendid stock by the Holiday season, still on hand a magnificent display of first-class jewelry, which he will dispose of at Holiday rates. No. 109 First street.

Parties who know whereof they speak declare that B. L. Stone on Front street, has the largest and best selected stock of jewelry ever brought to this city, and in addition to this they sell cheaper than ever before. The jewelry offered by him is warranted first-class.

Notwithstanding the tremendous rush the Holidays have occasioned at the counters of Lewis & Strauss, their tasteful and elegant stock of dry goods and millinery appears to be as varied and complete as ever. Those who have once been served at this popular establishment never fail to call again.

Wood's Museum, corner First and Ash streets, is constantly receiving additions to the already large collection of curiosities and rare birds and animals. Mr. Wood has opened in connection with the Museum a skating rink, where the lovers of this exhilarating sport can spend a couple of hours very pleasantly each evening.

There will be a business meeting of the members of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the vestry of the First Presbyterian Church in this city on tomorrow (Saturday) evening, January 1st, at half-past seven o'clock. Also, on Sunday evening, at the same place and hour, service will be conducted in the Norwegian language by the pastor, Rev. A. Fridrichsen.

A number of ladies connected with the several churches will receive their friends on New Year's Day at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association on First street. Arrangements are being made for a collation, and all young men are invited to call. Reception hours from 1 to 9 p. m. Visitors will be entertained in the evening with readings and music.

William Beck & Son are well equipped to meet the demand of the holidays. Their immense and varied stock comprises everything from a Henry rifle to a rubber doll, all of which is offered at greatly reduced rates until after the holidays. Country dealers, and city customers as well, will find it to their advantage to call at No. 107 First street, when looking for holiday goods.

Fishel & Roberts, the popular clothiers, will give a premium of $5 to the best man under thirteen years of age who visits Wood's Museum, Jan. 1st, 1876, and brings the following sentence with their photograph: "May we who live in 1876 be as true as were our fathers in 1776." Prof. J. P. Feaster will give a quarter's instruction in penmanship as a second premium. Age and opportunities will be taken into consideration in awarding the premiums.

The office of the new Telegraph Company was formally opened in Akney's block on Monday last. Platt Burr, Esq., the gentlemanly superintendent of the line, has successfully completed the same to Portland by way of La Grande and Baker City, where the division connects with other lines for all parts of the United States and Canada, and for Points in Europe, via the new direct cable. This arrangement will, it is hoped, effectually check the telegraphic news monopoly which has so seriously affected the general publishing interest of the Northwest during the past year.

B. L. Stone, the popular and reliable jeweler, 103 Front street, offers great inducements to purchasers until the holidays are over. His stock is as complete as magnificent, containing no article inferior, either in quality or workmanship. Depend upon it that holiday gifts purchased here will be durable and elegant, and will be furnished at prices extremely reasonable. Watchmakers and jewelers are especially requested to call, and will be supplied at reduced prices. Mr. Stone is sole agent for the celebrated Diamond Spectacles, which have so nearly robbed failing eyesight of its terrors. 103 Front street, Portland, Oregon.

In making up your lists of periodicals for 1876, don't forget the West Shore, the only illustrated paper published in Oregon, devoted to literature in general, and the resources of Oregon and Washington Territory in particular. The ablest writers in the State are contributors to its columns; the engravings are executed by leading artists on the coast. As a family journal it stands at the head of Pacific Coast publications; as a paper to send to friends abroad it has no equal—a single copy will give them a better idea of the Pacific Northwest than a year's number of any other paper. Sent postage paid for one year, $1.50; single copies, 25 cents. Address the publisher, L. Samuel, No. 5 Washington street, Portland, Oregon.

The young man who carries the mail from Odeon to Eugene City—over the Cascade Mountains—reports seeing on his last trip a band of fourteen elk swimming down the McKenzie River. They had taken to the river apparently to get away from wolves. He reports eighteen miles of snow, but made the trip from Camp Polk to Eugene City in three days.

Short dark days, long stormy nights, a leaden sky overshadowing a drenched earth—these are the cheerless attendants that wait upon the winter king, as he marches over the land in the zenith of his glory. Soon, however, his power will begin to wane, the storms will refuse to do his stern bidding, the days will encroach, imperceptibly for a time, upon the gloomy domain of night, and the grim king, robbed of his scepter, will retire before the advancing steps of spring.

A Brooklyn girl is engaged to be married to an Italian Count, and in the course of four or five years she may be looked for on the street with a hand-organ playing the usual tunes.

The past summer has been noted by meteorologists as being cooler by five degrees than the average season for more than eighty years past.

Moore & Hollabaugh, (successors to J. Fischner), at the old stand, 123 First street, known as the San Francisco Boot and Shoe store, respectfully say to his old patrons and the public generally that we have marked down the old stock from 25 to 50 per cent, and intend to sell regardless of cost, having this day received a large stock of New Goods of the latest styles, which we will sell as cheap as the cheapest, endeavoring to suit all who may favor us with their patronage. THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY is an opinion of newspaper history. It is also regarded as an official register of circulation. This feature requires the closest scrutiny to prevent it from leading to abuses. The plan adopted by the publishers of the DIRECTORY to secure correct and trustworthy reports is rigid in its requirements, and is adhered to with impartiality. Successful publishers, who have something to gain by a comparison, are generally prompt, not only to send reports in conformity, but give Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. such information as enables them to weed out unsubstantiated statements of pretenders to Journalism. The popularity of the book, and the general confidence in its accuracy and good faith, are attested by the immense body of advertisements it receives. 4 25
